research, creative activity
and scholarship

D I S C O V E R Y
at the university of regina
Research, creative activity, and scholarship in the social sciences and humanities lie at the heart of a healthy and successful society. The Faculty of Arts at the University of Regina is strongly committed to high quality research, creative activity and scholarship across a very broad range of disciplines that constitute the humanities and social sciences.

As an active Faculty committed to research and scholarship, scholars in the Faculty of Arts are involved in an extremely diverse variety of research endeavours, exploring topics as disparate as linguistic studies of Medieval English texts to the analysis of soil samples and sex hormones. Scholarship in the Faculty also takes the form of creative works, with members publishing collections of poetry and works of fiction in addition to producing documentaries and films.

Our research is both curiosity-driven and applied. It responds not only to the needs of our city and our province, but it also has a national and global impact. As the largest faculty on campus, The Faculty of Arts is at the forefront of shaping the University’s reputation as a preferred place to work and study.

Research, Creative Activity, and Scholarship: Discovery at the University of Regina is an attempt to capture the research activity and scholarship within the Faculty of Arts at the University of Regina. This report includes most books, book chapters, articles in refereed journal and non-refereed articles, and conference presentations since 2007 as well as the current research interests of the members of the Faculty of Arts. It also provides a snapshot of important accomplishments in research, creativity activities and scholarship of the Faculty of Arts and it will be a benchmark against we can measure subsequent research outcomes.

This report conveys the excitement, the diversity and the importance of research, creative activity and scholarship in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Regina.

RAYMOND B. BLAKE
Acting Associate Dean, Research and Graduate Studies
