Dean’s Message

Last week the halls were buzzing with excitement as the new EMBA Cohort 13 students started classes and an extensive group of students, faculty, community partners and participants engaged in the Prince’s Operation Entrepreneur (POE). This year we reached a significant milestone, surpassing the 100 graduate mark for Hill and Levene’s POE. This year’s POE was led by BBA student and Enactus member Ramisha Attiq and faculty co-leads, Lee Elliott and Lisa Watson – thank you for everything you did to make this such a success!

In addition to support provided by the Prince’s Trust Canada, sponsors of this year’s POE included Conexus, CIC, ISC, Greystone and the University of Regina. The coordination and delivery of this program is led by our student Enactus group and it is an enormous undertaking that simply would not be possible without the commitment and hard work of many, many people. One participant expressed to me that he previously participated in three entrepreneurial accelerators elsewhere in the country and not one of them compared to the quality of the programming and mentorship he experienced while at Hill and Levene last week. And while I did none of the hard work, I was fortunate enough to be invited to several events over the week. It was a warm reminder that not only are the participants of this program an inspiration, but that we are surrounded by amazing students, colleagues and community partners who are an inspiration. People who selflessly give generously of their time (and money) to make a positive difference in the lives of others. I am looking forward to seeing the many pictures that our BBA student Sal Moola took over the course of the week. Thank you to each and every one of you who played a part in this year’s POE.

Next week brings with it more excitement and undoubtedly nervous anticipation for some of our students. I hope you are all able to take a little time over the long weekend that is to come to reflect and refresh as we embark on the new academic year.

RBC Woman Executive in Residence

The Hill and Levene Schools of Business is seeking a passionate advocate for women’s entrepreneurship and leadership to become the RBC Woman Executive in Residence. This is a two-year appointment for a woman entrepreneur of influence in our community.

An email with full details of the Call for Expressions of Interest and Nominations was sent out by Maria Roy on August 27. Expressions of interest and nominations will be accepted by email to Maria.Roy@uregina.ca until September 12.

An email outlining the full Terms of Reference for the appointment and outlining the role and composition of the selection committee will be sent out later this week.

Assistance in Applying for Non-tri-council External Funding

The University has a new Special Projects Administrator in the President's Office to assist faculty members applying for external (non-tri-council) funding. Amy Hunter is this person and she can offer support in helping to manage and coordinate applications, edit materials, liaise with the award agencies, and ensure that appropriate institutional nominations and/or letters of support from the President are provided.

A list of possible awards sorted by Faculty can be found at this link. Feel free to reach out to Amy directly or to Adrian in his capacity as Associate Dean Research can help facilitate the connection.

Conference Presentations

- Lisa Watson presented “Responses to different types of appeals on obesity-related advertising campaigns” at the 10th annual Rupert's Land Consumer Behaviour Symposium held on May 24-25 in Winnipeg.
- Robert Anderson presented the following at the Annual Meeting of the Academy of Management in Chicago, August 10-14:
 - “Indigenous Peoples and the Economy: A Force for Decolonization or Recolonization?”
 - “Decolonizing Development: Perspectives from Indigenous Communities”
 - “Improving the Lives of Indigenous People: The Native, Aboriginal & Indigenous People's Caucus”

Summer issues of this newsletter will feature a list of conference presentations. If you have given a conference presentation since January, please send the citation details to Kelly-Ann McLeod so that we can recognize your research in the newsletter.
